

Engineering Practice Seminar

First presentation of a series of technical talks by professional engineers and specialists to supplement the normal classroom lectures, for students and graduate engineers desiring a practical coverage of the various aspects of design and construction issues of civil and building engineering works

Jointly organized by

American Society of Civil Engineers – Hong Kong Section

and

Department of Building & Construction, City University of Hong Kong

Seminar Topic

Project Management – A Contractor’s Perspective

Project Management is the application of knowledge, skills, tools, and techniques to project activities to meet project requirements. The project team manages the work of the projects to achieve the competing demands for scope, time, cost, risk and quality. Ir Cheng will share his views how project management is applied in projects managed by a Contractor.

About the Speaker:

Ir George CHENG, MSc.(Eng.), RPE, PEng (Ontario, Canada), CPEng (Aust.), FHKIE (Civil, Building), RSO, FASCE, FIAust.E, FInst.CES, MRICS

Ir Cheng is a Chartered Professional & Licensed Engineer, Chartered Quantity Surveyor and Registered Safety Officer. He has over 30 years’ experience in project management, construction management, cost estimating and contract administration of various infra-structure projects such as highways and bridges, buildings and foundations, mass transit, drainage and sewers, land development, marine structures, transmission lines, hydroelectric power generation facilities, mining and metals and Airport projects.
