Programme highlight	UK is similar to HK in many ways. Many parts of England have major regeneration in the past decades. This includes East London which is now going through a face lift for the 2012 Olympics. Similarly the HK Chief Executive's Policy Address 2007 announced ten new major infrastructure projects. Many of these projects involve major land regeneration schemes. Case studies will cover good environmental practice including climate change can be incorporated into land regeneration projects successfully. It will also explain how environmental, social and economic objectives are considered at various stages. This will help HK engineers avoid similar mistakes in UK projects.
